CITY RULE IN THE MAKING

June 11, 1878, Congress passed an act placing Washington, D. C., under the management of a commission. The act grew from the relations of the national government to that particular city, not as an example to be followed. Yet the success of the new plan encouraged many cities to attempt to centralize authority.

About the same time Memphis, Tenn., reached its limit of indebtedness and was suffering from insanitary conditions resulting in yellow fever. The state legislature in 1879 appointed officers to take charge of Memphis as a new taxing district, not as a municipal corporation. The city was not reincorporated until the commission had remedied conditions.

In 1901 the new form of municipal government was first tried voluntarily in Galveston, Tex. Each time a plan had been formed to meet conditions of one particular city. Since then many similar plans have been tried, with almost universal success.

The fundamental principle of every plan is unity of legislative and executive departments. Fixing responsibility, employing or electing city managers, adding initiative, referendum and recall provisions, limiting the number of commissioners and electing with or without ward lines or party primaries are other points outlined in most plans for commission government.

A WOMAN AND BARGAINS

There is something distinctly characteristic about a woman's love for bargains which is closely akin to a man's love for his pipe. You would be surprised—yes, shocked—to see a man at a bargain sale, just as you would to see a woman walking nonchalantly down the street with a pipe in her mouth. Bargain hunting can be dated farther back than pipe smoking, so far that it must be an instinct rather than a habit. Even before the time when bargains were to be found in stores this practice was introduced. Mother Eve took as much deliberation about selecting a new fig leaf as the woman takes today about selecting her new dress.

If a woman has been on the hunt for bargains since time immemorial, certainly she has learned the art of doing this thing well. Occasionally a person with skeptical tendencies is heard to scoff at the interest a woman takes in a $1.98 purchase, saying that this tends to waste money rather than save it. Bargaining has been called a hobby. Truly it is a part of human nature for one man to have a hobby for collecting curios and another for shooting game, just as it is for a woman to seek bargains. A person's hobby is always one thing which he does well. Interest and pride are taken in it, with the result that it is always successful.

The modern home is based on bargains. The woman today who has become the most successful homemaker is the one who has known a good bargain when she saw it. This age is one in which economy is an important consideration. It must ever be thought of. The difference in pennies between a $2 purchase and the $1.98 one is of more consequence than many persons are wont to acknowledge.

MRS. JARLEY WORKS FOR WOMEN

Wax Exhibition Brings $125 for New Building and Home Coming.

Mrs. Jarley's Wax Works, given at the University Auditorium last night, under the auspices of the Association of Collegiate Alumnae, ranged in scope from the sublime to the ridiculous, from Child Harold to the Sprat family of Mother Goose fame. The audience was plainly amused, despite Mrs. Jarley's very evident serious treatment of her "figers" direct from London, and her efforts to make the exhibition instructive. The part was taken by Dr. Caroline Stewart. At times she was overcome by her own eloquence, and her helpers, Peter (Dr. Jacob Warshaw), John (Prof. R. M. Dewey) and Little Nell (Marguerite Clayton) were audibly affected.

Miss Eva Johnston and Miss Pearl Mitchell, as "Babes in the Wood," caused much merriment. When wound up they fed each other doughnuts, and Mrs. Jarley's command to "take back the 'babes'" produced fresh laughter. The Gold Dust Twins (Misses Mary Skidmore and Margaret Post), "of noble brow and athletic trunk," gave demonstrations of their industry. Old King Cole, impersonated by Prof. Jesse Wrench, lived up to his reputation as a "jolly old soul." The vocalist (Miss Mary Stewart) "one of the costliest 'figers,'" needed oiling, as did Mrs. Winslow (Mrs. Walter Miller). Other attractions were the Feezie Mermaid (Mrs. M. W. Hertig), Siamese Twins (Will Garth and Basil Gauntlett), Welsh Dwarf (Oliver Williams), Lord Byron (Professor Carlton), Young Bachelor (Hilson Hudson), His Future Wife (Miss Julie Anderson), Unfortunate Giggler (Miss Kate Childs), Chinese Giant (Lockett Smith). The last treated with great respect, and was, according to Mrs. Jarley, her "chef d'oeuvre."

Part of the proceeds from the comedy is to be given to the fund for the proposed Woman's Building, and some of the money will be used to help make "Home Coming Week" a success. The estimated amount taken in was $125.

MISS SARAH A. NOWELL WEDS.

Is Married to Edward F. Gibbs This Morning at Parents Home.

Miss Sarah A. Nowell and Edward F. Gibbs were married at 11 o'clock this morning by the Rev. C. C. Grimes of the Methodist Church at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Nowell of 1425 Paris road. It was a typical autumn wedding and the hall and living room where the ceremony was performed was decorated in leaves and the dining room in cosmos. After the ceremony, a dinner was given for all the guests.

The attendants were: Maid of honor, Miss Eleanor Bedford; best man, Elmer Windsor; bride's maids, Misses Mary Vesser and Xanthine Petty; and ribbon bearers, Misses Louise and Margaret Nowell, twin sisters of the bride. Mendelssohn's wedding march was played by Miss Ruth Nowell, also a sister of the bride. The bride was gown in a traveling suit of green velvet.

The bride was born and educated in Columbia. She is a graduate of Columbia High School. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Gibbs of Wilton, Mo. He was graduated from the Columbia High School and attended the University in 1911 and 1912. He is now clerk in the Boone County National Bank. Mr. and Mrs. Gibbs left immediately after the ceremony on their honeymoon, the destination of which they kept secret. They will make their home in Columbia.

The out-of-town guests for the wedding were: Mrs. Townsend Smith of Lawrence, Kan.; Mrs. E. A. Kimbrough of San Antonio, sister of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Allen of Livingston, Mont., cousins of the groom; Mrs. Anna Spencer of Fayette, aunt of the groom; James Fisher of Glasgow, uncle, and Mrs. Estill Spence, sister of the groom; and Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Gibbs, Alex and J. T. Gibbs, Jr., of Wilton, father, mother and brothers of the groom.

TO DEDICATE UNION ON HOMECOMING DAY

Committee Plans Program for Visitors—Smoker and Open House.

ALUMNUS TO SPEAK

Parade by Classes to Be Held—Students Will Meet All Trains.

The Missouri Union Building will be formally dedicated at 12 o'clock noon, November 4. The dedication address will be made by some prominent alumnus of the University, said H. H. Kinyon, secretary of the Union, today.

The Union is now busy arranging a program for the Texas-Missouri game. The mass meeting the night before the game will be followed by a smoker at the building for all alumni, visitors, faculty men, former students and students. This will be an informal get-together meeting. On Saturday morning, beginning about 10 o'clock will be the parade by classes. No floats will be in the parade this year. The marchers will disband at the Union Building, at noon, for the dedication.

Lue Lozier, president of the student body, will appoint an entertainment committee soon. Students will meet all trains to see that all alumni and visitors are brought to the Union Building.

A house committee has been appointed to make out a program of events. Smokers and informal gatherings will predominate, said Mr. Kinyon. There will be one big night a week. "All students and former students, whether they are members of the Union or not, are welcome at the building," said Mr. Kinyon. "Later, as the membership grows, the building will be restricted to the members, and friends who may be visiting them."

Mr. Kinyon has a list of the events taking place at the home of the Michigan Union one year. The list shows something happened there every night of the school year. The Union here will be as great a meeting place, Mr. Kinyon thinks.

Several letters expressing the intentions of the alumni to be here for the Texas game have already been received. The night of the game the Union will have open house.

Y. P. U. to Give Social Saturday.

The young peoples' unions of the Christian Societies—Presbyterian Endeavor, Christian Church Endeavor, Baptist Young People's Union and the Methodist Epworth League—will give a Hallowe'en social for University students Saturday night, October 28, at the Y.M.C.A. Building. Misses Mary Jarvis, Betty Baker, Ruby McClure and Nan Bonham have been appointed chairmen of the committees in charge of the social. Last night's Missouriian was in error in stating the Baptist Young People's Union will give the social.
